INNES MAKES A GREAT HIT

Chief Feature of San Francisco's May Festival.

Superb Musical Treat in Store for Los Angeles.

Still No Trace of Embellisher Smith Really Found.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first matinee of the San Francisco magnificent May festival was the most wonderful affair of the sort this city ever knew. Three thousand school children sang their songs to the accompaniment of Innes and his wonderful band, and the children's Pavilion would hardly hold the throngs that gathered there, despite a drizzling rain.

The youngsters made such a hit that a hasty plan was adopted whereby they are going to sing again Wednesday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. The public simply demanded it. They were led in their earlier choruses by Estelle Carpenter, a girl who is school superintendent of music, and by Innes himself, who is immensely popular with them and whose baton they followed to the last note. They sang Handel's "Largo," and the grand "Pledge to Father," swelling from childish throats in remarkable cadence. The magnificent American melody and several popular melodies, in each supported by full band, were also sung.

Last night, the adult festival chorus made its first appearance, singing with the band. It is 1500 voices strong and its work was a revelation as to the possibilities of such an organization and a good augury of what Los Angeles is soon to have, in its own Innes May festival.

But both choruses fade before the superb work done by the band itself. The orchestra is a startling surprise to the whole city. Of course, Innes is well-known, but no one was quite prepared for what has been furnished in a purely musical way. There is a band that is orchestral, both in selections played and methods of handling them. It is capable of the most string effects and wonderful in its repertoire.

Festivals here afford a fine foretaste of what is to follow and assure Los Angeles a superb treat.

NO SURE CLEW TO SMITH.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—No positive clew to the whereabouts of former Tax Collector Smith has yet been obtained, either by the police or the private detectives who are working on the case. While the officers are strongly inclined to the belief that he is in Honduras, or on the way there, they believe that they are without positive information.

Judge Cabanis today continued until next Thursday the hearing of the charges against John R. Smith, accused of breaking the camera of a newspaper artist who photographed them, after being warned not to do so.

A private safe opened by the Tax Collector was kept today, but the nature of its contents has not been made public. Counting the money in the money continues slowly, every pack-

NOT IN THE MARKET.
Demoralization of the fruit and vegetable market in South Water street was noted today. The goods were left to rot at a heavy loss to shippers. Leading members of the Wholesale Fruit and Produce Association declare that a blow has been delivered to these interests that will be felt for years to come. Fifteen cars of fruit and produce on the Illinois Central were left to rot. A carload of cherries from California, one-half con-age of coin being broken open and examined.

The grand jury did not resume its probing of Smith's bank dealings today, but a meeting will be called for tomorrow, when bank officials will again be summoned before the jury to tell of all the transactions they had with the Tax Collector.

HIGHEST IN THE WORLD.
TACOMA CHIMNEY COMPLETED.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)

TACOMA, May 1.—What is considered by engineers a remarkable feat in construction was completed here today, when the mammoth concrete chimney at the Tacoma smelter was finished. It is the highest concrete chimney in the world, and was built for the purpose of abating the smelter-smoke nuisance in the north end of Tacoma.

The height of the chimney above the base is 267 feet 6 1/2 inches. The inside diameter is 18 feet. The foundation is 40 feet square and 4 feet deep. The construction of the chimney is what is known as reinforced concrete, and consists of steel rods running parallel through the concrete from the foundation to the top of the chimney.

The cost of the chimney alone was $15,000, and the connections will cost $25,000 more.

COMMUTES SENTENCES.
THOMAS COODY'S GOOD LUCK.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)

SACRAMENTO, May 1.—Gov. Pardee has commuted two sentences of convicts serving time in the State penitentiaries.

The sentence of Thomas Coody, convicted on a charge of grand larceny for stealing two bicycles in Los Angeles, in 1901, and sentenced to ten years in Prison was commuted to five years.

Charles Parks was convicted of criminal assault in Solano County in 1900 and sentenced to twenty years in San Quentin. The Governor is in receipt of an affidavit from the prosecuting witness, who states in the presence of two reputable witnesses, also under oath, that her testimony was given falsely, and that another person than Parks was guilty of the assault.

Justice Buckles of the District Court of Appeals, who is familiar with all the facts, stated that the sentence was extreme. Gov. Pardee, on this showing, reduced the sentence to five years, so that Parks will be liberated in May next year.

DEFAULTER
MAKES FIGHT.

Wanted in Georgia for Using Funds of Bank.

Lived in Los Angeles Under Assumed Name.

Expert Banker of Excellent
Family Tree.

A very slick young man was picked up in this city yesterday, after a desperate fight, by the Thiel Detective Agency, in response to a telegram from Georgia, received by J. S. Hurst on Friday.

For three months the police have been looking for a man whose correct name is Markley, Potter, and although he was seen in this city some time ago, it was not known what name he was using and all efforts to locate him failed until yesterday.

He has been passing in Los Angeles by the name of J. M. Markley, and though a defaulter, though his picture has been spread throughout the country by the Detective Magazine and a reward of $200 offered for his arrest, though an utter stranger, Potter is of that type of man who was able to come here, change his name, and judge the

Potter, who was picked up yesterday, is a man of about 30 years of age, of medium height, with dark hair, and a well-to-do appearance. He was wearing a suit and tie, and was carrying a briefcase. He was seen by a police officer who recognized him as the defaulter, and he was taken to the police station.

W. S. POTTER, alias J. M. MARKLEY.

Markley to get a security on his bond the United States Guarantee Company, which is represented here by Guy Barham, and to secure employment in two of the sound financial institutions of the city.

Potter, who was picked up yesterday, is a man of about 30 years of age, of medium height, with dark hair, and a well-to-do appearance. He was wearing a suit and tie, and was carrying a briefcase. He was seen by a police officer who recognized him as the defaulter, and he was taken to the police station.

When the telegram came on Friday, one of the men in the employ of the Thiel Detective Agency started on a systematic search for the defaulter. He was seen by a police officer who recognized him as the defaulter, and he was taken to the police station.

It was desired to make the arrest quietly, but when Hall told the detective what he had done the latter instantly knew that he had to act quickly. The man would be gone. He went to the window where Potter had been seen and told him he was wanted. Potter made a suspicious movement as if he might attempt to escape, but he was held by the detective.

He would go through the window if Potter made any effort to run. Potter then told him he would come and he emerged from behind a curtain, and he emerged from behind a curtain, and he emerged from behind a curtain.

NEW YORK, May 1.—This case is one of deliberate murder or suicide. There can be no manslaughter about it. There should be no compromise verdict. She is either guilty of murder in the first degree or not at all.

With these words Abraham Levy, counsel for Nan Patterson, brought to a close this afternoon his five-hour argument in defense of the former chorus girl, charged with the murder of "Casar" Young.

During the long argument Miss Patterson faced the jury unflinchingly. The courtroom was crowded, most of the audience being women, who struggled to get a look at the defendant. At one time during the afternoon the judge was compelled to stop Levy while court officers expelled from the room some women who persisted in discussing the case in audible tones, to the annoyance of all present.

Levy reviewed all testimony in detail and declared not a word had been introduced which was in any way prejudicial to the case. He also ridiculed the idea that Miss Patterson should have chosen a crowded public street as a place for murder when she had so many opportunities to attack Young where there would have been little danger of detection.

Assistant District Attorney Rand will close for the people, and it is possible the case will go to the jury tomorrow.

After the jury had been selected, Hock turned to the jury with a smile to the reporters and said: "That jury is fine." Assistant State's Attorney Olsen expressed himself as satisfied with the men to try the case. Hock became much excited when Assistant State's Attorney Olsen declared in his address to the jury that two more grains of arsenic were found in the body of Hock's late wife, Mrs. Marie Walcher-Hock, exhumed last week. "The embalming fluid had been given the strongest test," declared the prosecutor, "and no arsenic was found in the fluid." Hock jumped from his chair and was about to say something, when he was forced to sit down and remain quiet.

THE MASQUERADER

By KATHERINE CECIL THURSTON

Here is a novel six months old, and still a brand-new book—a book claiming its hundreds of new readers daily and promising great things. It has proved itself a great story; it came sweeping all ordinary novels into the background, and it still goes on its conquering way. It's worth reading, if only to see wherein the secret of such tremendous success lies. Once take up the book, and you know.

This is a story of a strong man and a strong woman and their high-handed grasping for happiness in the face of the moral law. The woman, magnificent in her love, rises above considerations of conventions, above fear, above conscience. Circumstances give her the right to follow the dictates of an overwhelming passion. It will take rank with the few really good books.—New York Evening Mail.

HARPER & BROTHERS, PUBLISHERS, NEW YORK CITY

What Joy They Bring To Every Home

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

Said to Have Contracted to Take Entire Product at Twenty-five Cents per Barrel—Means Renewed Prosperity for Oil Companies in That Productive Field.

The reports of an extension of the Santa Fe into the Midway district and a deal between the railroad and the Chandler-Candfield-Midway Oil Company of this city, are again revived. Last night The Times received the following exclusive dispatch from Rarickfield:

"The Chandler-Candfield-Midway Company has sold to the Santa Fe Railroad Company a half-interest in its vast holdings in the Midway district and the transfer will shortly be placed on record. The Chandler-Candfield people have some of the most valuable oil lands in the State in the West Side field that have been developed.

"It is understood that the Santa Fe paid the Chandler-Candfield people somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 for the half-interest and the report comes from Los Angeles that the railway company has contracted to take the entire output of the territory at 25 cents a barrel on a long-time contract. This oil will, of course, be taken at the wells and this means that the Santa Fe will at once build the Sunset extension into the Midway field, a distance of nine miles, and the road will pass through much developed territory and furnish transportation for many producing companies."

No official confirmation or denial was obtainable last night, but it may be stated that the story is fully credited by oil men who are usually the best well informed on such matters. Former reports were denied and were in all probability premature, but it is in every way likely that some such deal has now gone through and that there will be work started very soon.

The Chandler-Candfield people have long been enjoying very close relations with the Santa Fe. When the railroad adopted oil as fuel it made a long-time contract with Chandler & Candfield at a high price. The latter now furnishes the road with oil obtained from the Associated.

The Midway district has been thoroughly proven and is capable of adding an enormous amount to the output of the State. An extension of the railroad at this time would seem to indicate that the supply of oil available is not really as large as claimed by the Associated, and is most important in its bearing upon the price of oil, which is being kept down by alleged overproduction or the constant lack of it by the big companies.

NEW OIL FIELD.
The Kramer Consolidated Oil Company, operating at Hawatha on the Santa Fe road, twelve miles south of Kramer, has just commenced the drilling of a new well, which is to be thoroughly tested that locality. An entirely new rig has been installed and it is the opinion of the company to go 3000 feet, if necessary, in order to ascertain the value of the field.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Heinrich Concert.
Tonight, at the Los Angeles Auditorium, will be the concert of Max and Julia Heinrich. The second part of the evening will be devoted to Max Heinrich's recital of "Knoch Arden."

Ball Lake Visitors.
The local Chamber of Commerce is making ready for the Ball Lake Commercial Club, which is expected in Los Angeles within a few days. About 150 guests will be entertained, and a program for their diversion is being prepared.

Newsboys and Naps.
Forty newsboys were guests at the weekly theater party of The Times at the Grand last night. The play was "The Vagabond." They were given a tour of the plant, and the giant barbarian, won a place next to Jim Jeffries in their distinguished esteem.

Two Bankrupts.
W. Tomlin, keeper of this city, filed a voluntary bankruptcy yesterday. He states that he owes $52,224 and has $2,000 in assets. In real estate, he has $100,000. He is not a post, but a clerk—is another insolvent, declaring debts of $21,975. He has $12,500 in assets, which is in property exempt by law.

Departing Chinese.
A motley company was that which left Los Angeles yesterday for San Francisco. Last evening, a group of United States Marshal L. Z. Osborne, Jr., consisted of twenty-four Chinese, illegally in America, in the custody of five guards. They are booked to sail on the steamship Korea, soon to depart for Hongkong.

Lectures Postponed.
Owing to a disturbance between the managers of Masonic Hall and Rabbi M. O. Solomon, as to the use of that hall, Dr. Solomon's lectures, which had been announced for May 2 and 3, have been postponed. They will be delivered on days to be announced later as soon as a suitable hall can be secured.

Burglars at Work.
J. E. Herold of No. 64 South Spring street reported to the police yesterday that his place had been entered Sunday night by burglars who broke down the rear door. The thieves secured four suit cases and ten ladies' pocketbooks. Mrs. P. Murray of Rio street suffered a loss of several articles of Mexican jewelry and a gold ring.

Innes Sent Solo.
The sale of seats will commence at the Union Pacific ticket office this morning for the Innes music festival, eleven in number, which will take place at Temple Auditorium during the week of May 15. Much interest has been shown in the coming functions, which promise to be notable both as social and musical events.

New Rector Arrives.
Rev. Baker P. Lee, who was to make his bow on Sunday evening as the new rector of Christ Episcopal Church, failed to arrive until yesterday noon, on account of the death of his father. Mr. Lee is accompanied by his wife and three children, and the family are guests at the home of Mrs. George Chaffee, on South Cummings street.

All-Day Rally.
An all-day temperance rally will be held today at Temperance Temple, corner of Temple, street and Broadway. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. Oliver W. Stewart, a prohibition orator, will speak during the afternoon, and evening. Dr. William J. Campbell, who is known as the Pennsylvania idea, Prof. Kelsey and Rev. C. J. Hall will also deliver addresses.

Once is Enough.
Once is enough to be taxed is the opinion of Ephraim H. Winans who brought suit against the county yesterday. He asserts that he had $1000 on deposit in the Equitable Savings Bank and that the County Tax Collector made the bank pay $1125 tax on the money and then made him pay $1125 on the same cash. He brought suit in Justice Young's court yesterday to compel the return of the money.

Hermit Dive-Keper.
Francisco Ruiz, the hermit blind-pig keeper of Chatsworth Park, has been charged by the coronator. He kept a queer little shack, miles from the nearest neighbor in the Susanna Mountains. The men working in the stone quarry have been driving out to his place to buy his home-made wine. Jack Adams, deputy constable, drove out from this city and placed him under arrest. Yesterday, Justice Young fined him $100.

Street-Car Innovation.
Beginning within a week or two, Manager McLennan of the Interurban system will attempt an innovation in the service of his cars which run to railway stations. A pile of tin signs will be kept at each terminus, and each car will bear on its front the number and destination of the train with which it connects, and the time of the train's departure. The scheme will be introduced on the West Adams division, and will afterward be put on the University system, which has one terminus at the Santa Fe depot. West Adams cars will turn down Main street at Third, running to Fifth on Los Angeles railway tracks, and then going direct to Arcata station.

BREVITIES.
The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier, especially Sunday real estate advertisements, in order to be printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday night. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sunday involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential in order to get the paper out on time, to stop receiving real estate ads at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Friday, when possible; or at least a part of it, and the balance only on Saturday. Sunday "Want" ads will still be received by phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday night. It is no longer necessary to pay by check for good eye glasses. We guarantee to sell you the very best crystal reading lenses in 10-year gold lined frame for $1.50 complete. Others ask from $2.00 to $5.00. Satisfaction guaranteed. Eyes tested by three graduate State registered opticians. Clark's, 251 S. Spring.

The Ladies' rest room on the top floor of the new wing of The Times Building is open daily from 9 to 5. Ladies from town or country will find this a convenient place to write, rest or read. Stations provided for correspondence. Both 'phones available. Take elevator in business office. All are welcome. For sale—Furniture, carpets, and draperies, piano and pianola, complete, in an eight-room house, near Westlake. Inquire 212 West Sixth street. 'Phone 251.

Rehearsals for the Innes May Festival Chorus take place every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7:45 at Birke's Hall, 56 S. Spring street.

Dr. J. W. Pollard has changed his residence to the Hotel Lankershim. Office Grant Block.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Postal Telegraph Co.'s office, Spring street, for C. C. Wilder, F. M. Speddy & Co., Emil Roganser, Dr. V. Hunter, L. H. Richards, Mary Bauer, Joe D. Biddle, Kalb & Dill.

JONATHAN CLUB.
Split Ticket Elected—Rule and Wankowski Pull Through—Huntington President.

Bring your Watch here
There's But One Way

to build up a satisfactory watch repair business—that's do the work right.

More than fifteen thousand watches come to the Geneva for repairing annually. Pretty good evidence that we do the work right, isn't it?

MID CHEERS AND RED LIGHTS FIRST TRAIN OPENS REGULAR SERVICE ON SALT LAKE LINE.

"WELL, the baby is born." The red tail-lights of the first regular through passenger train on the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad were mingling with the twinkling green switch lights down the yard when T. E. Gibbon, vice-president and general counsel of the road, broke the impressive silence among a group of railroad officials who had assembled last evening for the event at the First-street passenger station.

It was Gibbon's turn to talk, as well as his right. He had been watching for the birth of that particular baby for fourteen years.

Operating and traffic officials, who had been preparing for months and years for the occasion, heaved a sigh of relief as the big 418 picked up that heavy train of ten cars, slowly and carefully pulled it beyond the crossing, and then, with a care-free "who-who-who-who" of the musical chime whistle glided down a straight stretch of track at the river's side and gracefully rounded the curve toward the East—to Salt Lake, to the mountain country and to the land beyond.

The road was open.

The men who had conceived the plan of a new line to link Salt Lake City and the sea had done their part.

The financiers who had poured their millions into the enterprise had followed suit.

The engineers who had run the lines, and the construction gangs that had dug and blasted and filled and bridged and tunneled, had said all was ready.

It was for the operating department to wait the breath of life into the lungs of the "baby."

General Manager Wells, Superintendent Cullen and others of the operating department, too, were ready, and the fine new train pulled out exactly "on the dot" at 7:30 o'clock.

At the same minute, 280 miles away, the first west-bound train was scheduled to leave Salt Lake City, the only difference being that the clock in the train dispatcher's office at that point indicated 7:30 o'clock, as Salt Lake City goes by mountain standard time, which is one hour faster than Pacific time.

CROWD ON HAND.

A large crowd had gathered at the old Terminal station on East First street an hour before the new train was scheduled to start. Railroad men, passengers and novelty-seeking citizens were there in numbers. Others arrived on every street car, until the surging mass resembled a summer excursion party on a scramble for a beach.

On a side track lay the new train—ten cars, brightly lighted and shining from the labors of the cleaners, who had made their first round trip a few hours before. There were a baggage car, two day coaches, a chair car, a dining car, a sleeping car, a standard sleeper and one observation sleeper.

Then came the chair-car passengers, each eagerly seeking a seat before the crowd should arrive, and each finding another there ahead of him.

Stationmen and trainmen were implored to open the doors, and when the crowd had got beyond the power of control this was done, with a resultant rush that filled those cars in a jiffy.

Before a snorting little switch engine had come clanging past the station to place the train on the main outgoing track, the day coaches and chair cars were filled and there was a smattering of passengers in the tourist and standard sleepers, each new arrival being cheered lustily by the watchers on the platform.

Down in the round-house near Fourth street a hostler had lighted the oil burners under the hood of the bandy, some big Baldwin engine of the Pacific class that had been selected to pull the first passenger train.

THE MOGUL.

The 418 it was, with six great driving wheels, each seventy-seven inches in diameter and capable of tearing off the miles as a steel magnet would rip off coupons.

With electric headlight, "traveler" trucks, that helped support the massive iron, and a peculiar tank for oil and water, shaped like a cylinder at the rear and higher than a box car, at the point just behind the cab, the immense locomotive towered like a skyscraper as it stood in its stall. Only a few feet away was one of the first engines used on the old Terminal road—a dinky little "kettle" that resembled a child's toy.

Half an hour before starting time, the big machine, with Engineer George G. Mason at the throttle and Fireman

Harry Mitchell at the left side of the cab, steamed off the turntable and backed slowly toward the waiting train.

The crowd cheered again as the ponderous engine was coupled to the train and the engineer clambered down with his long-necked oil-can and made the final circuit of it, machine, filling the oil-cups at the driver bearings and assuring himself that they would not "run hot" on the maiden trip—although, as a matter of fact, the 418 had been over the road a number of times, "limbering up" for the occasion.

TRAIN WAS FULL.

There wasn't much aside from this. The train was full—there wasn't a vacant seat, nor hardly an unoccupied section in any of the sleepers. The baggage car bulged with trunks and valises, and with a heavy burden of meat and other express matter that the Wells-Fargo Company had arranged to send to Las Vegas—indicating that this company is to have the express privilege on the new line—while Superintendent Fennessey of the dining car department was on hand to see that the inner wants of the 400 or more should have proper attention in the handsome car provided for their accommodation.

Brakemen Whittlesey and Sutherland ran the length of the train after the engineer had responded with two "toots" to the signal to test the air brakes, noting that the brake shoes did not cling too fondly to the wheels; Conductor E. P. Jones cried "all aboard," looked at his watch, lifted his green and white-gloved lantern to the "go ahead" position, and the train was off. It should be mentioned, parenthetically, that the train "butcher" was aboard. With the first turn of the wheel, he started down the aisle from his post in the head car, and the top-most book in his pack was "A woman on a single track"—by—you've guessed it—Bertha M. Clay.

CULLEN GOES ALONG.

Superintendent T. Cullen of the Los Angeles division, which extends from Los Angeles to Las Vegas, was the only company officer to go with the train. He expected to board the first westbound train at Las Vegas and come with it to Los Angeles.

With the train fairly started, it was for the dispatchers to keep it moving, and especially to keep it from trying to pass other trains between stations on a single track.

Chief Dispatcher Parrott and his forces were ready for the fray, and Trick Dispatcher Funk, under whose charge the train was to be until it reached Riverside Junction, and was transferred to the Southern Pacific, had mapped out the few meeting points with westbound trains that were to be made by the first passenger train.

The Southern Pacific was to deliver the train to the Santa Fe at San Bernardino, to be delivered in turn by that line to the Salt Lake again at Daguerre.

It was with an intense feeling that several of the railroad officials stood at Funk's elbow as he sat over his train sheet and listened for the first report of the train on its way East.

It may seem trivial, but those railroad men were anxious to see if No. 2 got by Pico on time. Pico is ten miles out and the train was due to pass there at 7:47. When 7:48 had come, and the night operator at Pico had not made a sound on the wire, there was an expression of disturbance on those tense faces.

Another minute passed, and some operator under the line broke in on the train wire and wanted to send a message.

Funk chased him off. Funk was a little curious about that train himself. Not a tap about No. 2 at 7:50, and they began to sweat in that dingy office.

"Gee," one of the officials said, "I hope she hasn't gone in the ditch."

Ten minutes more went by, followed by another ten, and one of the men with a time table in his hand, got up and looked over Funk's shoulder at the crisis-crosses on the train sheet, all blank so far as No. 2 was concerned.

"Holy smoke," he exclaimed, "she's due by Rowland at 8:04. Try him and see if she's coming."

Funk gave up Pico. The night operator there must have taken the flying train for a phantom and flayed it a record its passage. Funk went for Rowland, calling him on the wire as if to get out a red board in front of a special that was running westward regardless of the new train that was flying to the east.

BIG LEASE BONUS, NEW STORES COME.

IMPORTANT deals were closed yesterday, which provide for the transfer of one of the old-time firms of the city to new quarters, and for the housing of two new concerns.

A corporation composed of D. H. Steele, W. A. Farris, R. M. Walker and W. W. Grether, who have been for some time past heads of department stores in the Broadway Department Store, has leased the W. H. Perry building, at the southwest corner of Fifth and Broadway, through the agency of Herron & De La Vergne, for a term of eleven years, and will open a department store under the firm name of the Steele, Farris & Walker Company. The company is incorporated with a capital stock of $200,000, and considerable eastern capital is invested in the enterprise.

The building, which is a four-story brick structure, 60x115 feet, has been occupied by Hawley, King & Co. since it was erected, about nine years ago. The new company gets a transfer of the remainder of this firm's lease, a term of a year and a half, and for the balance of the period of eleven years they have leased directly from W. H. Perry. Hawley, King & Co. is said, have been paying a rental of $800 per month, and the new company pay them a handsome increase over this price for the remainder of their lease.

Possession is to be given July 1, when the building will be remodeled. Plate-glass windows will be placed in the entire first-floor frontage on Fifth street, while the entire interior will be rearranged. The department store will open for business about the middle of September.

Hawley, King & Co. in addition to their Broadway store, have for nearly twenty-three years conducted their business at Nos. 124-4 North Los Angeles street. Their lease on this building they have sold to Harro, Richard & McCone, machinery merchants of San Francisco, who have maintained a branch office in Los Angeles for the past year, and this firm will place a large stock here.

For the use of the Hawley-King Co., E. S. Youmans of Winona, Minn., will erect a store building on the east side of South Los Angeles street, adjoining the property occupied by the Los Angeles Woodwards Co. This is taken under a ten-year lease and will be occupied next July. The building will be 17x165, four stories high, with basement.

SONS OF ERIN ARE OUT AFTER THE JOB.

"THERE'S nothing too good for the Irish" should be the slogan of a new political league started within the week in Los Angeles.

No one will be eligible for membership who is not Irish or of Irish descent.

Members will be drawn from all over Los Angeles county and the plan is to pin the shamrock through the next Republican county convention.

The organization has been given the name of "Erin Republican Club."

Preliminary meetings have been held already and a committee is now drawing up a constitution and by-laws for submission at the next meeting.

The men who have brought the organization into existence are Simpson McClary, John W. Carrigan of the Sheriff's office, Frank Haley of the county tax collectors office, F. J. McGonigle, bookkeeper at the Whittier Reform school, Paul J. McCormack of the City Attorney's office and William F. McLaughlin.

McLaughlin is a cousin of the Democrat who is on the State Asylum Board. McLaughlin has been elected president. He was a member of an Irish club in Cleveland conducted on similar lines.

One of the members of the club thus explained its purposes yesterday.

"We are planning to get places for such of our members who may not have anything to do. I do not mean only political jobs. We intend to take care of our members who may need jobs in other lines of activity. We hope to have influence enough in the community to get them places."

"Politically, we have a scheme whereby we hope to be able to control the balance of power in the Republican county conventions."

"We will start the club with a membership of thirty. Before the next convention we will have, we figure, at least 150 members."

"We expect every member in the club to be able to get himself a place in the county conventions. However, we figure that half may fail. We could go into the conventions in that case with seventy-five men. This would give us strength to swing the balance of power."

"The rapid upbuilding of the trolley systems of Southern California is really what we rely on to give us a unity we never could have had otherwise. It will enable us to get together."

"Our by-laws will provide for meetings twice a month and the trolley will make it possible for all the boys to be there."

"We think it will help us politically. When some fellow can't get into the convention alone, we will help him by our combined influence."

Victor Talking Machines

We desire to inform all our friends, and particularly those whom we hope to interest in the incomparable Victor Talking Machine, that we have moved this department to the third floor of our establishment, where increased freedom from the noise of the streets, better air and light, and greater room will enable us to display to merited advantage the possibilities of the Victor.

While we give regular semi-monthly Victor recitals, we extend a very cordial invitation to all to come in at any time and hear the new Victor Records which are constantly being received.

Free Cecilian Recital

On next Thursday at 3 o'clock, occurs our regular Cecilian recital. Miss Louise Schmidt, soprano, will sing, and interesting numbers will be played by the Cecilian. Full details in later papers.

Peter S. Cochrane, a former Colton boy, spent a short time in town today, while on the way from Arizona to San Bernardino. He says that apparently nothing is being done to learn the truth about Spring's death.

"I feel sure," he said, "that Gardner was murdered. Men out there think nothing of killing a man. There are some old fellows in that country who have an idea they own the place and cut and slash and kill on every hand."

For the reason that he relied upon young officers and they appear to have failed to do anything on the case, Mr. Spring, the father of the dead man, re-

Jastro, has made a gift of a little more than thirty acres of land, in the western part of this city, and easily reached from every part of town, for a public park. The only provision being that the city of Bakersfield should spend $100,000 in improvement within the next five years on the property.

This offer has been hailed with keen appreciation by the public, and it will surely be accepted by the city at the next meeting of the Board of City Trustees.

GIVE LAD A CHANCE.

Harry Burns, the young man who was arrested after a sensational sixty-five mile chase, by a posse of vaqueros a week ago for stealing a horse from the Lakeside ranch, is to be given a chance to reform. H. A. Jastro of the land company, interviewed the boy in a hotel, found out that he is but 17 years of age, and that he comes from a prominent and honorable family. Mr. Jastro decided that he would not prosecute the lad, but would put him to work on one of the company's ranches until he earned the reward money that was paid to his captors.

REWARD OFFERED.

Harry Burns was employed by the Kern County Land Company eight months ago. His chief occupation was general housework on several ranches. He daily saw Mexican vaqueros on horseback mounted on fine animals and he desired to chase cattle on a galloping horse. Finally he was tempted by the temptation no longer and he proceeded to appropriate an entire outfit, including a high heeled pair of boots. He picked out one of the finest and fastest horses on the Lakeside ranch and with a full month's salary in his pocket, he waited for darkness and then he fled. The boy has been in the Jastro's whole story of his ride and capture. The latter thinks the lad's capture will be ruined if he would prosecute him and has decided to give him another chance.

NOTHING DONE FOR ELECTION.

NO-SALOON BATTLE COMING MIDDLE OF JUNE.

If Lists of Proposed Election Officers are not in Tomorrow Councilmen Will Select—Municipal Civil Service Employees in a Quandary About Attending Church Meetings.

The date has not been set for the special election, which is to decide the fate of the anti-saloons initiative ordinance.

Yesterday the Council did not even make a reference to the pending election.

No mention was made in the City Attorney's report of the ordinance setting the date for the election and arranging the details, which he was a week ago instructed to prepare.

While on its face, this looks like unnecessary delay on the part of the City Attorney's office, the Council is responsible.

The ordinance calling the election must contain the names of the election officers and the locations of voting places. Before these can be inserted they must be supplied to the City Attorney.

It is left to the Councilmen from the different wards to furnish the names of the election officers and the locations of voting places. The Councilmen have been waiting for the City Attorney's draft of the ordinance.

Not one of the nine Councilmen has completed his list. The delay has been occasioned chiefly by the anti-saloons forces. Their committee, which appeared before the Council a week ago, asked that the "anils" be given representation on all the election boards. The Councilmen have been waiting for the "anils" to present their lists, and none have been produced.

Yesterday afternoon the Councilmen discussed this subject informally. It was generally agreed that, if no names are submitted by the "anils" by Wednesday, the Councilmen will select the ordinance calling the special election may be ready for presentation to the Council Monday.

There will be 108 polling places for the special election. That is the number of precincts, and both "water" and "dry" insist that there shall be no combining of precincts.

The date of the election will likely be about the middle of June.

Municipal employees under civil service have submitted informally to the Civil Service Commissioners, the question whether they may take any part in the special campaign.

A number of these employees yesterday refrained from attending anti-saloons meetings at their churches, lest they be violating civil service rules. They were not certain that to participate in such meetings might not be interpreted as "partisan politics."

Rumor has it that some who did attend are undergoing the agency of suspense, until they learn whether they are to be hailed before the Civil Service tribunal on charges of political activity.

Citizens and the ring of half-baked reformers have insisted on the "pernicious activity" for even less flagrant violations than this. But Citizens First is the motto of just now investigating garbage crematories.

PICNIC OF EAGLES.

The picnic and barbecue under the auspices of the Anaheim Eagle, which was held yesterday was a success, and was largely attended by visiting Eagles and their families from Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties. After the barbecue there were athletic sports and dancing.

REWARD OFFERED.

Harry Burns was employed by the Kern County Land Company eight months ago. His chief occupation was general housework on several ranches. He daily saw Mexican vaqueros on horseback mounted on fine animals and he desired to chase cattle on a galloping horse. Finally he was tempted by the temptation no longer and he proceeded to appropriate an entire outfit, including a high heeled pair of boots. He picked out one of the finest and fastest horses on the Lakeside ranch and with a full month's salary in his pocket, he waited for darkness and then he fled. The boy has been in the Jastro's whole story of his ride and capture. The latter thinks the lad's capture will be ruined if he would prosecute him and has decided to give him another chance.

Brilliant May Luncheon. Seated about a gayly-strung Maypole from which a hundred varicolored ribbons waved and about which silvery ferns and soft-hued roses nodded, sat fifty of the city's fairest in silks and satins and laces that only the breath of spring could have brought out. The affair was the luncheon given yesterday at the Van Nuys Hotel by Mrs. Marshall Himmelman in honor of Miss Rose Garland, who is a visitor here. The decorations were in charge of Joseph Richel. The table itself was spread around a pillar which was wound with garlands of smilax and, in the greenery were delicately tinted roses. From a great ring of smilax about the center of the table's base, a tangle of ribbons fluttered to the floor. About each streamer asparagus ferns clung. On one side of the pillar rose a tree covered with tiny white blossoms and just beneath this was a shly made of candles of delicate tints and bearing in it a lovely little fairy. "Queen of the May" set mid many spring blossoms. At each side of the tree grew beds of pink and yellow roses and at the base of the Maypole was a ring of many-tinted blossoms. Maidenhair ferns waved over the table like a rolling sea, and white and pink roses and white swans laden with roses. Over the napery were cast many of the fragrant blossoms and maidenhair ferns. At each end of the table a May bush filled with flowers and tied with pale-green gauze ribbons was placed and name cards were of white, pink and gold. Over the entire table were garlands of asparagus ferns and white and pink May-time ribbons. Through the affair Mrs. Himmelman's orchestra discoursed melodies from behind the Japanese screens. Mrs. Himmelman was becomingly gowned in a gown of pale sapphire gray tulle with lace and she wore diamond and emerald ornaments. Her guest of honor was attired in white lace and chiffon. Many other handsome gowns were worn for the first time at this function. Mrs. Randolph Miner wore white pique and lace with pearl ornaments and large white hat.
